

The Company You Keep®

Privacy Policy

Our Information Practices

Our policies and procedures protect the privacy of current and former customers.

Types of Information We May Collect

In the normal course of business we may collect:

- Information provided on applications and other forms (including name, address, income and other household information);
- Data about your transactions (such as the types of products purchased and account status);
- Information from outside sources such as public records;
- Information gathered from our Web sites, such as through online forms, site visit data and information-collection devices (“cookies”);
- Information collected from consumer credit reporting agencies; and
- Health information collected with permission when a person applies for insurance.

Safeguarding Information

We maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards that meet state and federal regulations. Access to customer information is limited to people who need the information to perform their job responsibilities.

How We Use Insured Member Information

We may share the information we collect about a person as allowed by law, including for normal business administration and related business services. The information may be shared:

- Within New York Life; and
- With non-affiliates, such as banks or service providers that help us process transactions or service accounts. New York Life may use service providers such as billing, printing and mail service companies.

We may disclose the information we collect when required by law, such as to:

- Respond to a subpoena;
- Prevent fraud;
- Comply with legal requirements; or
- Respond to a government inquiry.

We will follow the privacy law in your state if that law has different requirements than the policy described in this notice.
